Sunday Morning Blaze

Destroys the Hague-McCorkle Dry Goods Store and the Original Racket

THE LOSS AWAY UP IN THE THOUSANDS

Weather Cold and Firemen Work in Sheets of Ice—
Our Home Insurance Companies Caught
For Only a Comparatively Small Amount.

Greensboro was the scene early yesterday morning of another disastrous fire. About three o'clock the alarm was turned in, but for some reason very few people responded. The mild sound of the alarm bells was soon augmented by the mingled shrieks of fine and coarse-throated locomotive whistles, and this was kept up for something like a half hour.

The fire was discovered to be in the second story of the Hague-McCorkle Wholesale Dry Goods establishment. The firemen went to work with a will to extinguish the flames, but encountered a stubborn job. The weather was extremely cold—only six to eight above zero—and it was next to impossible to handle the hose and other apparatus with the skill and dexterity with which it is done under ordinary circumstances.

However, the boys worked heroically; but before any headway was made the flames licked their way through the scant partitions and fired the second and third floors of the Original Racket Store also. Forked tongues of fire shot through the windows and made lurid the dense clouds of smoke. The engine was brought into use and great streams of water were hurled into the burning buildings to emerge like the steam and quickly turn to ice. Firemen were clothed in sheets of ice and their hands stuck to the nozzles with ice cement. After two hours or more of heroic work the flames were subdued, but the work was kept up until all danger was passed.

LOSSES AND INSURANCE.

The heaviest loss was sustained by the Hague-McCorkle Dry Goods Co. The building occupied by them was owned by Mr. J. W. Wharton, on which there was insurance to the amount of $2,200, which is less than half the value of the building.

The building occupied by the Original Racket was owned by Mr. P. D. Price and was insured to the amount of $1,200, which is less than half value. The wholesale stock of the Hague-McCorkle Company was worth (estimated) about $75,000, with insurance to the amount of $54,000, all of which was carried in northern and foreign companies, $49,000 represented by Greensboro agents, the remaining $5,000 placed directly in New York.

The stock of goods on hand in the Original Racket was valued at about $12,500, with insurance to the amount of $6,500.

BOTH FIRMS WILL CONTINUE BUSINESS.

Though the losses are considerable, we are gratified to state that both of these firms will continue business and before the embers of the conflagration are hardly dead, are opening up in other buildings.

The Hague-McCorkle Company wired Capt. Fisher, who is in Washington, for the use of his large building, corner Depot and Davie streets and received a favorable reply accompanied by a message of sympathy for their loss. Mr. Hague was in the northern markets at the time of the fire, buying a large stock for spring trade and the company will open up at once in the Fisher building. The goods on the first floor were only damaged by water, the fire being confined to the second and third stories of the building. The same is true in the case of the Original Racket store.

Mr. W. J. Clary, proprietor of the Original Racket, early this morning rented one of the store-rooms in the new Groome building, across the railroad, and commenced at once to move into it.

The Greensboro insurance companies were only caught for $2,200, the amount on the building belonging to Mr. J. W. Wharton. This amount is with the Southern Trust Mutual.

GOES TO LITTLE ROCK.

Rev. Hay Watson Smith Leaves Wilmington.

His Greensboro friends will read the following reference to Rev. Hay Watson Smith, with interest. It is copied from the Wilmington Dispatch of Saturday:

Rev. Hay Watson Smith, who has been supplying the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church for the last few months, will preach his last sermon tomorrow morning and night. He will leave here Monday afternoon at 3:05 o'clock over the Seaboard Air Line for Davidson College, where he goes to attend the marriage of a friend. After spending a few days at Davidson, he will go to Greensboro, his former home, and remain for several days. Then he will leave for Little Rock, Ark., to become pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of that city, to which he was called some time since.

Rev. Mr. Smith has given entire satisfaction to the church and congregation, and there is genuine regret that his connection with the First Presbyterian church extended over so short a period of time. It will be remembered that the church was getting ready to call him permanently when he indicated his unwillingness to assume the responsibilities of the pastorate of so large a church. He is a young man of exceptional ability as a preacher and of many fine qualities as a man.

A Graceful Act.

The finance committee and employees of the City National Bank have made the retiring cashier of that bank, Mr. R. G. Vaughn, a present of a handsome silver service, in recognition of his faithful and capable service to the bank in the capacity of cashier. It was a graceful act, and well merited by the recipient.

A fresh line of ladies' fancy slippers and fur topped Romeo slippers were opened up yesterday, at Thacker & Brockmann's, just in time for the holidays. The prices are 75 cents, $1 and $1.25, and there are some very pretty styles among them.

Try Kadok-Headache Powders, 3 Doses 10c. Cures all aches in the head pleasantly.

OPENS TOMORROW.

The Banking Department of Southern Loan and Trust Company.

As stated elsewhere, Mr. R. G. Vaughn takes charge of the banking department of the Southern Loan and Trust Company tomorrow, on which date they begin a regular banking business and will be ready to receive deposits and we predict for them a prosperous business. The company is composed of men, who by actual contact with the people, have made records for business ability and integrity that will tell in their future transactions.

There is no more thoroughly equipped banking house in the state. The banking office is large and well lighted, equipped with handsome furniture and railings, and extra large vaults and safes. Everything is in harmonious keeping with the modern idea of a model bank, and it is expected that their business will be commensurate with their furnishings.

A WARM WELCOME.

Mr. J. C. Marchison Returns to Greensboro.

The Wilmington Dispatch of last Saturday says: "It was learned today that Mr. J. C. Marchison has resigned his position as division master of trains of the Atlantic Coast Line and will become connected with a manufacturing enterprise in Greensboro. His friends speak of him in the highest terms and they are extremely sorry for him to leave Wilmington. The men who worked under his directions were especially fond of him."

Mr. Marchison is here and his friends, who compose the entire population of the city who know him, are glad to welcome him back. He was a popular official of the C. & Y. V. Railway, and since the sale of that road he has been with the Coast Line. A short time before the sale of the old road Mr. Marchison built a handsome and commodious residence in this city.

SENATOR BUTLER TALKS.

Excepts to the Prediction of Mr. Daniels on the Amendment, Special to the Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Senator Butler, of North Carolina, has just returned from a trip to North Carolina, where he spent the Christmas holidays. The senator will spend the New Year in Washington. In speaking of politics in the state the other day, the senator took exception to the prediction of Hon. Josephus Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, who stated that the proposed constitutional amendment would be adopted at the August election. The senator gives it as his opinion that the amendment will be defeated, and bases his judgment upon the fact, as he says, that on a straight vote North Carolina is anti-democratic by forty thousand majority. The senator from North Carolina says that the populist party in the state are opposed to the adoption of the amendment. The republicans too, he says are against it, and he does not believe that the statement of Mr. Daniels that a number of republicans will vote for the amendment will materialize at the polls. On the other hand he gives it as his opinion that a large number of democrats will vote with the populists, and—republicans in opposition, which would insure the defeat of the constitutional amendment.

In regard to other political matters the senator expresses the opinion that North Carolina is still for silver, and predicts that in the November election the state will give its electoral votes to Col. Bryan, if he is the democratic nominee, but he believes that on the state ticket fusion will be effected between the republicans and populists, and that the state will again elect a fusion governor and state officials. The senator believes the state will give its electoral vote to Bryan by twenty thousand plurality.

Mr. H. W. Fuller, general passenger agent of the Chesapeake & Ohio railway, has been spending the Christmas and New Year's holidays at Pine Forest Inn, Summerville, South Carolina. It is said that he may, before his return to Washington, go as far as Florida.

Very few Virginia and North Carolina people are in the city today. The majority of the congressmen are at their homes. They will be in the city, however, by Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. The congressmen in Washington now from the south anticipate considerable legislation of interest to the south, or at least much consideration of measures of interest to the section. It is doubtful, however, if much important legislation goes through both houses this session.

Although the gubernatorial election in Virginia does not occur until one year after the presidential election, there is already much talk concerning the next democratic nominee for the governorship. It is believed that the race for the nomination will be between Congressman Charles Swanson, and State Democratic Chairman Elyson Taylor.

Mr. Louis Kemper, of Alexandria, Virginia, has gone to Columbia, Miss., where he holds an important position under the Southern railway.

It is said that Mr. Kemper's health has greatly improved since he left Mississippi some time ago. Columbia is said to be a much healthier location than his former post, and his friends hope his health may continue good.

Messrs. James Y. Dennis and P. A. Gorell, of Winston, North Carolina, are in Washington for a few days on a business trip. They are stopping at the Metropolitan hotel.

Star service has been established in Virginia as follows: Wampler, by Debusk, to Festoon; Hat to Columbia Furnace; Mumpower, Va., to Bristol, Tenn.; and Zunt, by Unity, to Conley. J. O. Miller, has been appointed postmaster at Hearing, Norfolk county, Virginia.

TODAY'S WAR NEWS.

Two Victories Make a Happy New Year for England.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.
London, Jan. 1.—General Gatacre sent a message to the war office today announcing a victory over the strong force of Boers that attacked him. As he was pushing his line northward the Boers were aided by strong artillery and made an attack in force, but the British troops seized a strong position and held their own.

London, Jan. 1.—The news of two victories at Cape Colony made a happy New Year for England. Gatacre having been reinforced since his route to Stormberg was the more important victory of two, he chronicled in the following dispatch:

"Durdrecht, Dec. 24.—Two thousand Boers with big guns began an attack on the British garrison here today. The garrison occupied a strong position just out of town and repulsed the Boers. The attack was fierce and determined, but the garrison held its own."

The war office is glad to get this news, for it assured the British control of a wide stretch of country, putting Gatacre in a position to advance with two columns on the Boer commanders at Stormberg, with a chance to burn his flag, besides keeping in their bounds to the disaffection of the colonists. The other victory was as reported in this message.

Norfolk, Dec. 24.—A strong force of British cavalry and infantry followed the Boer retreating to Colerburg, inflicting serious losses. General French has now cleared the country as far as Arundel to within four miles of Colerburg.

Removal of Office. Mr. R. W. Brooks, lumber dealer, has removed his office from the Eagle Foundry building on L-wis street to Room No. 104, Southern Loan and Trust company's building, where he will be glad to have his friends call and do business. If you do not know the new location, ask for Mr. Brooks and he will lead you to the new office, or you can call on him at his old office.

W. H. GILBERT RETURNS.

Spent Last Night in Greensboro Jail and Carried to Winston.

W. H. Gilbert, the man who got into such an unfortunate entanglement over the sale of the stock of goods of the Winston Hardware Co. some time ago, was brought to this city yesterday from California by Deputy Marshal Moffitt, of San Francisco, and lodged in the Greensboro jail until this morning, when he was carried to Winston by Deputy Marshal J. T. Millikan, of this city.

Gilbert, it is said, avows his intention to return to San Francisco when he gets out of this scrape. He says times are good out there and that it's no trouble for a live man to make money there.

Mr. W. H. Parks Dead.

The Telegram learns with sorrow of the death of Mr. W. H. Parks, of Franklinville which occurred at his home in that village yesterday. Mr. Parks was president of the Randolph Manufacturing Company and was a nephew of Mr. Hugh Parks, an old and well known citizen of Franklinville.

He married Miss Maude Curtis, daughter of D. Curtis, formerly of Greensboro, and sister of Rev. W. M. Curtis, of Walkertown. He leaves a wife and two children, a boy and a girl. The remains were buried today at 12 o'clock. Mr. Parks was about 35 years old and a young business man of much promise.

Too Late

For today's paper, but tomorrow the New Year's Greeting of the Moore Optical & Talking Machine Co. will appear. Their advertising is quite interesting and our readers will no doubt show their appreciation of this progressive firm by their patronage during the new year. "RAZORS IN DE AIR."

This dangerous weapon no doubt played an important part during Christmas in carving up a few hides, and as it is always ready for business.

Harry-Belk Bros Co.

Decided to try it on all Christmas goods. And, my! the way we have cut and slashed the prices on toys, albums, games, dolls, etc., is a caution. Not a whole price is left in the entire lot. All must go. No room to pack away the remnant stock. We have had big trade in every department consequently our establishment looked as if a tornado had

STRUCK

It, for everything was turned upside down, in straightening up our shoe clothing; dry goods and gent's furnishings stock we used the razor pretty liberally on several occasions, cutting as it were to the quick every time. So if you are in need of anything in either line you will save money by calling at once. Cost sale, closing out sales, fire sales and such like does not even interest the people if they once glance at the "wreckage prices" of
